U.S. Army Expects All-Out Communist Assault

To Honor Jones, Cahill and Notre Dame Here Tonight

Loveland Site Of Testimonial To Dixon Men

500 to Pay Tribute To 'Hometown' Boys

Two hometown boys are coming back to Dixon tonight for a testimonial dinner in the Loveland Community House at 6:30.

They're Herb Jones and Bob Cahill, currently operators of the business end of the Notre Dame athletic department.

Herb Jones

Some 500 persons will be on hand when Dixon pays tribute to two of its better-known sons. Jones and Cahill are bringing a "Who's Who" of Notre Dame with them:

The Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., president of Notre Dame; Frank Leahy, head football coach of the famed "Fightin' Irish"; The Rev. Theodore Martin Hesburgh, C.S.C., vice president of the South Bend university, and Edward W. (Moose) Krause, athletic director and head basketball coach.

The secretary of the Notre Dame alumni association, James E. Armstrong, also will be on hand for the celebration.

Two men who've covered Notre Dame football games for metropolitan newspapers will be there to support the testimonial. They're Warren Brown, sports editor of the Chicago Herald-American, and John Carmichael sports editor of the Chicago Daily News.

Bob Cahill

Sponsored jointly by the Notre Dame club of the Rock River valley and the Dixon Knights of Columbus, the dinner's proceeds will be used to give Notre Dame scholarships to deserving Dixon youths.

Jones has been business manager of the Notre Dame athletics for 23 years. His Dixon partner, Bob Cahill, is ticket manager.

Truman Side-Steps Sales Tax Question

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP)—President Truman side-stepped today the question of whether he will seek a national sales tax in his effort to put the country on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

Questioned at a news conference as to whether such a tax is being considered as a new source of funds, the President said he could not answer—that he is having his tax experts work on revenue-raising proposals.

He said he hoped to submit their recommendations in advance of the start of the house ways and means committee tax hearings. These are to begin early in February.

Earlier today a highly placed member of the house told newsmen he expects a broad expansion of excise taxes—and perhaps a boost in the liquor tax from $9 a gallon to $12.

Collect $678 Fund For War Amputee

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP)—Funds to aid Pvt. Hubert Reeves, the Korean war amputee, have reached $678.

Officials of the Union National bank of Joliet reported today that checks have been placed in the Reeves account totaling $420. A second fund started by the Culbertson school PTA, where the youth went to school, now totals $258.

PTA officers said the fund was raised to aid Reeves' family in traveling from Joliet to Percy Jones general hospital at Battle Creek, Mich., to visit the young soldier.

Some Steak!

Providence, R. I., Jan. 18—(AP)—Tenderloin steak was selling at $2.29 a pound in some markets here. Meat men said it was an all-time high. The price was reported by the State Bureau of Markets.

Air Force To Call 150,000

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP)—The Air Force announced today it is immediately calling up "a major portion" of the air reserve and the National Guard and large numbers of volunteer air reservists.

The call involves about 150,000 men and is designed to increase Air Force manpower to 971,000 as soon as possible.

To Call Guard Units

The Air Force said it will call at least 12 additional National Guard wings, 21 air reserve training wings, most of the ground supporting units and a volunteer reserve personnel.

The Air Force has already ordered into service 10 National Guard wings, a guard tactical control group, four reserve wings, and 50,000 individual officers and enlisted reservists.

Other smaller reserve and Guard supporting units have also been ordered into active duty.

The current call includes all of the 21 remaining air reserve training center wings.

To Report in Spring

Six of these are carrier wings which will be assigned to duty with the tactical air command between April 1 and May 15. The remaining 11 carrier wings and four light bombardment wings will report for duty between March 1 and May 1.

The Air Force said the personnel of these 11 carrier wings and four bombardment wings will be utilized primarily as a pool of manpower qualified for other assignments throughout the Air Force. The reserve units will start their active duty at their home training centers while individuals are screened for possible deferments. During this period members of the unite will also receive physical examination and final classification of their skills.

Active reservists will be called first as far as practical but inactive reservists will be brought in to fill critical jobs for which active reservists are not available, the Air Force said.

It added that each unit or individual reservist will be given as much warning as possible and that at least one month's prior notice can be assured.

The Air Force said it would not identify the National Guard and reserve units involved in this recall program.

Halt Gambling? Close Tracks, Says McBride

Cleveland, Jan. 18—(AP)—Arthur (Mickey) McBride, founder of the Continental Press Race Wire and owner of the Cleveland Browns football club, told U. S. senate crime investigators yesterday the only way to stop gambling on horse races is to close the tracks.

Obviously nettled by prolonged questioning, the stocky taxi company magnate also told the committee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver that there are more bookies in Florida now than before the crime investigations started.

"Why there's one on every corner in Miami," McBride asserted.

Asked pointblank by Kefauver what he would do to stop gambling, McBride shot back:

"If you want to stop gambling on the horses, stop the race tracks. Why (permit them to) gamble inside when they can't gamble out?"

McBride insisted "the trouble starts at the track" and said the Continental Wire was a legitimate enterprise to carry racing information.

He conceded during his four hours on the stand that he had been associated from time to time with "Big Al" Polizzi and other ex-convicts.

But he added:

"I have had 50 boys in my lifetime that went to prison, and everyone that I helped out turned out to be pretty good boys."

GIRL, 12, WEDS UNCLE—The marriage of 12-year-old Helen Ford of Mishawaka, Ind., to her father's brother, George Ford, 26, was revealed in South Bend and is being investigated by juvenile authorities. This picture of the child was made several months ago while she was a sixth grade pupil.

'Killer' Cook Trades Gun For Poetry

San Diego, Calif., Jan. 18—(AP)—Accused kidnaper-killer William E. Cook has lost most of his sullen attitude, jailors reported today, and has taken to reading poems.

The 23-year-old Missouri gunman appeared more cooperative than when captured in Mexico and returned here Monday. He sat in

Indefinite Draft Urged by Hershey For Men Up to 25

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey today asked congress for an indefinite extension of the draft law with authority to induct men from 18 through 25 years.

"This is not an emergency shot in the arm," he told the senate armed services preparedness sub-committee.

Approves UMT

Hershey, who has operated the selective service system for 10 years, gave full support to the broad universal military service and training bill sent to congres late yesterday by Secretary of Defense Marshall.

"It is the best act we can hope for at the present time," he told Chairman Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) of the senate group.

Hershey said military manpower plans must be "based on the assumption that the nation will be in a critical period for an indefinite length of time, and that all-out war will be a possibility for at least the immediate future."

In addition to supporting the plan for lowering the present minimum induction age from 19 to 18, Hershey also backed the request to lengthen service by draftees from 21 to 27 months. Even that may not be long enough, he said.

To meet expanding military manpower needs, Hershey said men from 18 through 25 who are unmarried, do not have World War II service and are not fathers should be called.

Here's His Plan

If this fails to fill needs, he said the following should be drafted in this order:

First, non-fathers, non-veterans, 18-25 inclusive.

Second, non-fathers, veterans

Truman, Reporters Engage in Another Row Over Quotations

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP)—President Truman said today not a single newspaper in the United States quoted his remarks last week concerning his readiness to consult with congress before sending American troops to Western Europe.

A number of reporters present at his news conference quickly protested that this was not so.

All Remarks Published

They said all of his remarks were published, subject only to the White House's own restrictions against using quotation marks without the president's permission.

Truman at his news conference a week ago insisted he has the power to send troops to Europe or anywhere else he thinks they are needed but said that as a matter of courtesy he will consult congress before doing so.

He said too that if congress tried to stop him by cutting down on appropriations he would carry the question to the American people. He added: "I licked 'em once."

His remarks were widely published.

Made Position Plain?

He said today he made his position plain on the use of troops and consultation with congress at his last press conference and his statement was not quoted in a single paper in the United States.

He went on to say that a previous statement with reference to atomic energy and its use in the defense of the country was not made clear.

I would appreciate it most highly if you would state the facts as I state them to you, the president

Set Election To Purchase School Site

The school board of district 170 voted last night to hold an election Feb. 1 on the sale of one school site and the purchase of another.

If a majority of the voters favor the purchase, a new site will be bought for a school to serve the southeast section of Dixon. A lot already owned by the district will be sold at auction because it is too small to offer room for a playground.

The proposed tract, slightly larger than 20 acres, is bounded by Hemlock avenue on the west, Division street on the north, the Chicago and NorthWestern tracks on the south, and Fargo avenue on the east. The site to be sold is bounded by Poplar street on the north, Hemlock avenue on the east, Spruce street on the south, and Chestnut avenue on the west.

The two propositions to be voted on will be to sell the old site and to buy a new one. A blank space will be provided on the ballot for a write-in location.

Maximum price for the new location is set at $21,500 and none of this fund need come from new taxes and no bonds will have to be issued. A petition signed by 352 voters was accepted for calling the vote.

Polling places will be the entrance to the auditorium of the high school for the northside and the principal's office at South Central school for the southside. The meeting of the board was adjourned until 8 p. m. Feb. 1 when they will canvass the votes cast during the election.

Rotary President Says Group Not Connected With Masonry

Chicago, Jan. 18—(AP)—Rotary has "absolutely no connection with Masonry or any other organization," says Arthur Lagueux, president of Rotary International.

A statement aimed to clarify Rotary's position "regarding all religions" was made public yesterday by Lagueux at Rotary headquarters. He was in Chicago to attend next week's semi-annual meeting of Rotary's board of directors.

Hit By Vatican

His statement followed publication last week of a Vatican decree barring Roman Catholic clergymen from membership in Rotary clubs.

A source connected with the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, had suggested the decree might have been intended to apply to Rotary organizations in Europe and South America where it said they are sometimes associated with Masonry.

Vatican informants have not made clear which clubs, if any, have become associated with Masonry. The decree applied by implication to all similar clubs—Kiwanis, Lions and Optimists.

Lagueux said in a statement "to make clear Rotary's position regarding all religions:"

"Rotary is not a secret organization. Rotary has no views or secrets of any kind. All of its meetings, activities and records are public.

"Rotary does not seek to supplant or to interfere with any religious or charitable organization. Qualifications for Rotary membership do not require information as to race, religion or politics. Rotary assumes that the program of service of its 7,200 Rotary clubs in 83 countries is in accord with all religions."

US Will Move To Brand China 'Aggressor'

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP)—President Truman said today the United States will bring every pressure it can to brand the Chinese Communists as aggressors in Korea.

At a press conference, Mr. Truman said he endorses completely a statment yesterday by Secretary of State Acheson turning down as "unacceptable" the Chinese Communist reply to a United Nations cease fire proposal.

Acheson denounced the Peiping regime for its "contemptuous disregard of a world wide demand for world peace."

Mr. Truman said that he went over in advance what Acheson had to say.

Mr. Truman spoke at a time when Red China's aggression, now that peace moves have failed, threatened to split the free world.

First Dip in Eight Days Jolts Market

New York, Jan. 18—(AP)—Stock prices receded slowly today in the first losing session in eight straight trading days.

Losses for a large assortment of leading stocks ran from a few cents to more than $1.50 a share. The vigorous demand that had kept the market at a succession of 20-year highs over the past few weeks subsided to a whisper.

Lower prices were paid for Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, J. I. Case, Schenley, Zenith Radio, Du Pont, and Studebaker.

Among the few with an appreciable following were Homestake Mining, Union Carbide, American Can, Seaboard Air Line and Gulf Oil.

Railroad bonds moved narrowly in quiet dealings.

English Short of Space in Hospitals

London, Jan. 18—(AP)—The unprecedented amount of illness in Britain has caused two serious shortages, in blood and in hospital space, doctors reported today.

A group representing 6,000 London doctors declared that one of every three emergency cases is being refused admission to hospitals.

Set Bill to Improve Nation's Forests

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP)—A bill to earmark 10 per cent of national forest receipts for improvement of timber areas, was introduced yesterday by Senator Cordon (R-Ore).

It would authorize use of the money for thinning, burning, controlling rodents or any operation to improve timber stands.

Parking Lot Mishap Reported by Police

Minor damage to a car driven by Charles Reed, 60, of 1004 Brinton avenue, resulted from a crash in the city parking lot at 4:35 p.m. Wednesday.

According to police a car driven by Joe H. Spealman, 46, of Coleta, Ill., was backing out of a parking place when the Reed auto passed. Reed's car hit the right rear bumper of the Spealman auto and the left front door and fender of Reed's auto were damaged.

Report Clash On Western Korean Front

Planes Help Units Stabbing Red Lines

By OLEN CLEMENTS

Tokyo, Jan. 18—(AP)—Tank-led Allied troops battled two companies of Chinese Reds tonight in a brief but fierce local clash on the Korean western front.

The U. N. patrol, under air cover, then smashed out of a threatened enemy envelopment.

Allied commanders expected a general Communist offensive may come at any time.

"All hell might break loose soon," an officer said.

Patrols Jab Enemy

A U. N. raider patrol, one of several exploring the strength of enemy troops massed all along the battle front, jabbed in and out of Kumyangjang, 25 miles southeast of Seoul.

The commander of the Allied motorized patrol said he met strong resistence in Kumyangjang and called for air support when it appeared his troops were being flanked.

Then after 90 minutes of fighting the Allied commander reported he had pulled both his units out of the town and taken one prisoner.

It was the first strong action reported by patrols prowling the far-flung Korean war lines during the day. They penetrated as deep as 26 miles.

An Ominous Quiet

An ominous quiet prevailed in most sectors but there was abundant evidence of heavy Red troops concentrations.

A pre-offensive buildup of enemy troops became evident Wednesday night when U. S. Fifth Air Force B-26 bombers sighted six Red troop trains and attacked five. Pilots claimed one was destroyed and four others damaged.

Highway convoys totaling more than 400 Red vehicles likewise were spotted and attacked on roads leading to central and western fronts.

Red China yesterday rejected the latest U. N. cease-fire proposal.

A rough outline of enemy positions was drawn by accounts of patrol activity. The line slants southeast from Seoul to Yongwol, 97 miles from the fire-blackened South Korean capital. Yongwol is 33 miles northeast of Chungju, road junction city held by the allies. Red deployments appear to be designed to cutoff Eighth Army forces strung out from western Korea toward the old Pusan frontier, on the southeastern tip of the peninsula.

Specifically, patrol activity reports indicate the Communist forces are stretched from a 90,000-man force south of Seoul to Suwon, 17 air miles south of Seoul, and then east through Ichon and down to Yongwol, a mining town.

The allied patrols roamed at will

Predict English Flu Epidemic Will Spread to America

St. Louis, Jan. 18—(AP)—The influenza epidemic now sweeping England will spread to the United States, the president-elect of the American Public Health association predicted yesterday.

Dr. Gaylord W. Anderson of Minneapolis, Minn., expressed hope in an interview that new methods of treating pneumonia will prove effective against influenza.

The physician said there have been six or eight world-wide flu epidemics since the big one in 1918. The world is just about due for another one, he said.

THE TORN, TWISTED METAL shown is all that is left of the 1940 sedan which bore Clifford Mason, 22, of 1125½ Long street, to his death early Wednesday on the Lowell park road one and one-half miles south of the White Pines road. The motor of the car was pushed back into the front seat and the steering wheel bent almost double. No blood was visible inside. The condition of Edward Taylor, 25, of 1006 Third street, driver of the other car involved, was reportedly "improved though still serious" today at KSB hospital. Klyne "Casey" Flynn, 23, route 1 Willett avenue, was reported in "good" condition. Tom Kavadas, 19, of 1020 Jackson street, was released from the hospital this morning. They were passengers with Taylor.

Truman Says He Welcomes Test of Troop Authority

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP)—President Truman said today he welcomes a Democratic party move in the senate to voice approval of the use of American troops in Europe.

The President reiterated at his news conference that he has no question about his authority to send troops anywhere with or without congressional consent.

But, he said under questioning, he would like an affirmative expression of support from congress.

A reporter told Mr. Truman that the Democratic majority in the senate is working on a resolution expressing approval of the use of American troops as part of General Dwight D. Eisenhower's command for the defense of western democracies.

The President indicated he did not know about the move but he said he would like an affirmative expression of approval.

The Democratic move got underway after Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican leader, offered a resolution opposing the dispatch of troops to Europe without congressional sanction.

A number of Republicans, including Senator Taft of Ohio, have contended the President cannot send such troops on his own authority.

To Reclassify Highways for Effective Use

Springfield, Ill, Jan 18—(AP)—A proposed reclassification of more than 100 000 miles of Illinois roads is nearing completion by the state highway division.

Highway engineers hope their work will provide an effective basis for overcoming criticisms that road administration in the state has been too costly, inefficient and haphazard

The reclassification plan will be submitted to the legislature, where stiff opposition is expected Legislative approval is required to put it into effect.

The 1949 general assembly ordered the report It sought a better groundwork for future road building and repair programs

Staggered by huge estimates on costs of restoring the road system, the assembly wanted a blueprint for spending each road dollar where it would do the most good.

Hit Political Mileage

Some lawmakers asserted that too much money was spent to keep up "political mileage" in the 12,200 mile primary web

They said political miles were those built mainly for an office-holder's convenience, and which render little useful service to the general motoring public

The highway division reportedly will recommend reduction of the primary system—backbone of the entire state network—by 1,000 or more miles

Any primary mileage abandoned by the state would have to be maintained by counties, whose officials have protested at hearings that they are unable to stand the additional expense

Outside the primary system, the present classification divides roads like this.

Federal aid secondary—7,400 miles, county roads—18,440 miles, including 6,560 coinciding with federal air secondary, rural roads (townships)—75 000 miles

In tackling reclassification, state engineers started from scratch and attempted as a first step to develop on paper a theoretically ideal primary road network tailored to state needs

Their principal guide, under directions laid down by the legislature, was an "economic importance" rating assigned each community

Ratings were based on population of trade area, bank resources, assessed property valuation and newspaper circulation

On a blank outline map of the state, they sketched in 1,570 miles of existing interstate highways beyond state jurisdiction.

Then, six economically important regional centers were plotted—Peoria, Springfield, Rockford, Rock Island-Moline, East St Louis and Decatur

Lines were drawn connecting the six cities with interstate routes

Cite Major Markets

Major markets were put on next, like Champaign-Urbana, Joliet and Macomb After these came towns with still lower "economic importance" ratings All were tied in with the expanding network.

The system finally was extended to reach into each county not previously linked up

The next phase of the job was to compare the resulting theoretical pattern with existing road systems, and make the two conform as nearly as possible

Roads now classified as primary but not 'justified' by the adjusted pattern were tentatively marked for reclassification as county roads

Highways formally recommended later on for transfer out of the state primary system will come from this category

Dovetailed in with the reclassification project, work is in progress on development of specific long and short range programs for constructing new highways and rebuilding worn out ones

Flies 130 Sorties in Korean War, Doesn't See Enemy Plane

By HAL BOYLE

With U S Eighth Army, Korea —(AP)—A young Pennsylvania flier during the first six months of the Korean campaign flew more jet plane combat missions than any other man in history and he did it without ever seeing an enemy plane in the sky

This odd distinction fell to Lt Robert J. Swartz, 24, of Butler, Pa

Not Pleased

It didn't please him at all—the fact he chalked up more than 130 combat trips and never once got a chance to test his guns against an airborne foe. But he took the situation calmly

Swartz, a pleasant, clean-cut flier who resembles screen actor George Montgomery, served as a private in the air force during the second world war He came back into the service in 1948 because he had his heart set on flying.

He quickly became a workhorse of a squadron of the 51st Fighter Interceptor wing, an outfit known as "The Headhunters" He flew two and even three missions a day in his F-80 Other jet jockeys chased and tangled with North Korean planes over the rugged hills But fly as often and as far and as hard as he could—Swartz never could locate an enemy aloft.

Hit Ground Targets

But he did an impressive job against ground targets One day he knocked off six locomotives. Another time he was credited with destroying three Russian Yak fighters he caught on the field and with killing 200 troops

His target preferences are enemy vehicles and tanks because their results are more clearly evident.

* * *

Here's a little anecdote that falls in the how-far-away-from-the-war-can-you-get class:

A great city in Korea was being evacuated by the Allies

In the midst of this confusion and noise AP Corresponedent Tom Lambert rushed to the only telephone line still working After a heart-breaking delay he managed to get through to Tokyo. Tensely he asked the operator there to connect him with his office

"Oh, Mister Lambert," she said chattily, "I haven't heard from you for some time How is everything?"

"Not so good," said Lambert.

"What's the trouble?" asked the operator sympathetically "Have you got a cold?"

Nurse Tells How Hadacol Was So Helpful To Her

Supplied Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin Which Her System Lacked

Mrs. Jennie Lee Adele, 412 N. 27 St., East St. Louis, Ill., a nurse, says she wishes she had found out about HADACOL sooner because since taking HADACOL she feels so good. Mrs. Adele was suffering a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mrs. Adele's own statement: "I have been a nurse for over 14 years. My food never seemed to agree with me. I heard one day how so many folks were being helped because of HADACOL. I tried it and after 3 bottles I could tell a big improvement. Now I eat anything I want—sleep well and I am full of energy."

Why HADACOL Gives Such Fine Results

HADACOL does not bring just symptomatic relief. HADACOL now makes it possible to actually relieve the cause of aches and pains in the shoulders, legs and arms, certain nervous disturbances, and a general run-down weakened condition due to deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron in your system.

HADACOL not only supplies deficient systems with extra quantities of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin but also helpful amounts of important Calcium and Phosphorus—elements so vital to help maintain good health and physical fitness.

There's a very good reason why HADACOL comes in special liquid form. These precious Vitamins and Minerals are more easily and quickly absorbed into the blood stream this way—ready to go right to work. A big improvement is often noticed within a few days.

Don't Be A 'Doubting Thomas'

After reading Mrs. Adele's wonderful experience with HADACOL—how can you doubt that this great new nutritional formula will help you if your system lacks Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin?

What HADACOL did for Mrs. Adele, it can do for you if you're troubled with aches and pains in the shoulders, legs, and arms, certain nervous disturbances, insomnia when due to an upset stomach, stomach distress and a general run-down weakened condition due to such deficiencies.

So what are you waiting for? Don't you see that HADACOL is the kind of product you need—the kind you should buy and the kind you should start taking immediately!

Why continue to drag yourself around—a burden to yourself and your family—when relief may be as close at hand as your nearest drugstore if you suffer a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. This great HADACOL is inexpensive, too—costs only a small amount a day. Trial size, only $1.35. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Check Defense Expenditures

It's being proposed that congress create a committee paralleling the famed Truman Senate War Investigating committee which saved American taxpayers many millions of dollars during and after World War II.

True enough, we are not now at war. But we are appropriating record peacetime sums for defense. Responsible leaders beleive we must keep a close check on how that money is spent. They argue that past experience demonstrates that fraud and waste are otherwise unavoidable.

No standing committees and no existing special committees in congress, now perform that function. Nor do any have the time, the staff or the money to do the job.

In the special field, the nearest thing to that kind of group is the senate Johnson committee. Its task, however, is to keep a weather eye on the country's preparedness effort and speak out whenever it discerns a dangerous lag.

The regular house and senate appropriations committees may manage some investigation into expenditures as part of their job of voting funds. But essentially they must concern themselves with plans for new outlays rather than with what has happened to older ones.

Because money wisely and honestly spent on defense contracts is translated into badly needed tanks and guns and planes, the careful policing of arms spending is plainly a matter calling for a statesmanlike, non-political approach.

As the plan is now being considered, that objective seems clearly in view. Senator Ferguson, Michigan Republican, who played a key role in the old Truman committee, is suggesting a 10-member group evenly divided between the major parties. Should the house set up its own group or take part in a joint committee, a similar division is a strong possibility.

When the average citizen recalls the scandals and often colossal waste uncovered by the Truman committee, he must look forward impatiently to the creation of a new watchdog committee to safeguard his tax money today.

Once a defense program really gets rolling, its size and speed of operation inevitably bring waste in their train and provide powerful temptation to men seeking a big killing.

Just the mere fact that a special investigating committee exists would act as a deterrent to fraud and a spur to efficiency. For every man involved in a defense contract would know that any slip he might make could easily be front-page news in some future congressional hearing.

There seems good reason why the creation of such a committee is regarded by top Washington lawmakers as a basic part of our defense structure.

Another Soviet straw in the wind—Russia has clamped a tighter grip on Bulgaria. Without any formalities, Soviet citizens, under a new official Bulgarian decree, can move into key posts in the government.

This seems to mean that in the event Russia decided to attack Yugoslavia or West Germany, it could practically take over Bulgaria and make it an integral part of the Soviet Union.

In the past Bulgaria has served as a sort of satellite guinea pig for Soviet experiments in control. Hence U. S. state department experts feel this move may be the forerunner of similar steps in the other satellites.

The Russians say, of course, that they love their Slavic neighbors like brothers. It begins to look as if they want to hug them to death.

Use Tactics to Get That Evening Away from Home

"How do other wives manage to get their husbands to take them out occasionally?" asks a wife wth cabin fever—brought on by spending evening after evening in her own living room, while her husband reads, listens to the radio and stalls off all her efforts at conversation by leaning closer to the radio or refusing to glance up from his reading.

Well, a lot of wives don't manage to drag their husbands out at right. Others don't have to drag them because they are married to men who are as sociable as they are. But plenty of wives do get an occasional evening out just by taking the offensive—and ignoring all of their husband's defensive tactics—such as pleading a hard day at the office, or the "do we have to go out again tonight?" routine.

If it's worth it to you—you might try that last method. Don't ask your husband if he wants to go out, or try the wistful "we haven't been any place in ages" line. Just get busy and make some plans.

SURPRISE HIM

Hire a baby sitter. Have your glad rags on when your husband comes home, and announce brightly that you're going out to dinner, to a movie, to the Joneses, or whatever place you've picked.

The worst he can do is refuse to go—which isn't likely with you all dressed up and a baby sitter hired for the evening.

If he does that, keep your temper and say well, you guess you'll just go by yourself, and that as long as he is going to be home you can call the sitter and tell her not to come.

An evening at home won't look nearly so appealing if Papa's got to baby sit and if you aren't going to be sitting home, too.

That may sound like a high price to pay for an evening out—but you wanted to know how some women manage to get their husbands to take them places. And that's one way it can be done.

☆ IN HOLLYWOOD ☆

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

Hollywood—(NEA)— It's not supposed to have anything to do with the way marriage certificates are being torn into confetti in Flickerville, U.S.A., but I've latched on to an eyeball-popping fact about the slumber couches of movie stars.

Their beds are getting smaller and smaller.

It's the economy axe descending, kiddies.

An interior designer named Willis Lane II slipped me the portentious news.

Willis hasn't had an order for a springy, cozy leviathan in months.

Willis is a tall, solemn-looking expert who rushes in with the swatches when a movie queen decides that the plum-colored satin on her ottoman is revolting. He lowered his voice and told me:

"The day of the massive bed and the showpiece bed is gone. The yachts and sunken bathtubs will come later. Nobody ever starts with first things first in Hollywood. That's why beds are getting in right in the middle."

He looks for the nearest sleeve to laugh up when spielers on those guided tours of movie stars' homes read off the vital statistics about the swan-contoured bed inside.

Willis knows that at that very moment, some pesky business manager is opining that maybe the thing could be chopped up to save firewood money.

SERVANT PROBLEM

He cloed his eyes wearily behind his horn-rimmed glasses, shook his head woefully and asked if I'd ever made up a round bed.

It's murder, according to Willis.

By the time the upstairs maid has finished tucking the silken sheets under the mattress, the sun's setting in the west.

Had I heard how business managers have talked stars into lopping off domestic help right and left?

Hollywood, said Willis, is getting back to box springs with four legs.

When he first came to Hollywood, as an ex-engineer with a flair for bending vermillions and chartreuses to his will, the celluloid denizens were out to top each others parlor, bedroom, powder room and sink.

"You know," mused Willis, "I haven't had a client say he wants a bigger living room than Claudette Colbert's in at least a year."

And that's all right with him.

He's glad the day of the movie queen who insisted on a marble staircase for dramatic entrances has gone down the drain of time.

"It was corny," is the Lane verdict.

HOME SWEET HOME

He's a bug for American and French farmhouse interiors and he'll take the folksy, homespun conversation corners he's whipped up for John Payne, Gloria de Haven, Ann Harding, Joan Davis, Margaret Whiting, Susan Peters and Nigel Bruce any day in preference to the zebra-striped monstrosities he's been lashed into producing.

"Now everything's gone farmhouse in Hollywood. Not because Hollywood movies have laid so many eggs, either. The furniture doesn't require as much care."

A couple of years ago, he was knee-deep in color charts and antiques fixing up the home of the Robert Montgomerys.

Their recent divorce threw him for as big a loop as the John Payne-Gloria de Haven separation. He moaned:

"I couldn't even bring myself to go to the auction of the Montgomerys' furniture. It was just too sad."

Sometimes he lets dolls who've read a book on interior decoration choose their own colors, but he's suspicious of redheads. He snorted:

"You have to watch them. The minute they tell me how crazy they are about pinks and reds, I know they're not real redheads. They're brunets thinking in brunet colors. You don't catch a true redhead picking out warm colors. A real redhead knows the score."

JACOBY ON CANASTA

How to Play in a Tourney

By OSWALD JACOBY

"We have had many friendly arguments," writes a San Francisco reader, "about the best way to play in a Canasta tournament. Some say that you must play defensively to prevent your opponents from running up a big score. Some say that you play your regular game, just as though it wasn't a tournament. Others say that you must play aggressively, in the hope of piling up a big score. Who is right?"

Perhaps I'd better start by explaining how tournaments are usually conducted. Then my answer will be clearer.

In a tournament, you play against a different pair of opponents every half hour. When you finish at each table, both pairs must agree on the score. The lower score is subtracted from the higher score. The difference is carried forward as a plus score by the winning pair and as a minus score by the losing pair.

For example, suppose the Smiths score 3200 points while the Browns score 4800 points. The difference is 1600 points. The Browns are given credit for plus 1600. The Smiths have a score of minus 1600.

It's important to notice that the Smiths don't get any credit at all for their 3200 points. A high score doesn't mean a thing if your opponents have even a higher score.

At the end of the tournament (usually about five half-hour rounds), you add up all the scores that you made against the various opponents. For example, you might have minus 1200 on one round; plus 1100 on the second round; plus 2500 on the third round; plus 800 on the fourth round; and minus 200 on the fifth round. The sum of all this would be plus 3000.

A final score of plus 3000 probably wouldn't win a large tournament. Some other pair would probably have four or five good scores and come in with a score of more than 5000 points. You can sometimes lose one round and still get the highest score for the session, but you can't afford to lose more than one round. There's no rule about this, of course, but those are the probabilities.

This helps us decide on a winning line of play. In general, you must play aggressively in the hope of piling up a big score. At the same time, you must try to keep the opponents from scoring too much. It will do you no good to let them score as much as you do.

During the first rounds, you should take any reasonable risk in the attempt to get more points than the opponents. You can well afford to take somewhat bigger risks than you would in an ordinary game. In a tournament, it's a case of all or nothing.

During the last two rounds, you must let your score dictate your tactics. You act to protect a big score. Nurse it along against a big loss. Play somewhat conservatively.

If you have only a mediocre score, you go all out during the last two rounds. It will do you no good to add a measley hundred points or so. You must get a couple of thousand to have any chance.

If you have a really poor score, just relax during the last two rounds. You aren't going to win, so you might as well have a good time. However, don't play so foolishly that you let your opponents run up big scores. That may let those opponents walk away with the tournament just because you weren't playing seriously.

Q—After the deck is dealt, a red trey is the turn-up card. It freezes the pile, and another card is turned up. When somebody eventually takes the pile, what becomes of the red three? Is it counted as 100 points, or is it dead and used always as a discard?

A—A red three never becomes dead or discardable. In the situation described, the player who takes the pile must put the red three down on the table. It counts 100 points in his side's favor. In this case, the player does not draw to replace the red three.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Malaya to Develop Tin Mining Center

Ipoh, Malaya — (AP) — A great new tin mining center is to be developed in this section of northern Malaya. The biggest mining project in Malaya, and believed to be one of the biggest in Asia, is under way in the Kinta Valley.

The gigantic scheme calls for the deviation of about 14 miles of the Kinta river for the eventual mining of channel and river reserve tin. It is estimated that 49,000 piculs of tin will be extracted. Work of deviating the river's course is expected to require several years to complete.

Says Children Play Role in A-Bomb Defense

Los Angeles — (AP) — Children have a major part to play in the defense against atomic bombs, says Dr. Albert W. Bellamy, University of California professor.

One of the first duties for children is keeping the house and yard free from papers, boxes, old clothes and other combustible materials. "See that everything has a place," the professor says: "Toys, tools, flashlights, large candles, matches—everything should be in its proper place at all times."

Dr. Bellamy listed the following don'ts for children in the event of attack: Don't repeat rumors. Don't tie up the telephone. Don't tie up roads, move only when and where directed. Don't fill the bathtub with water after a bomb drops. The water may be contaminated and it causes a drop in city water pressure. Finally, he advises against eating anything that's open during an attack.

Iranian Government Monopilizes Sugar

Vienna — (AP) — In Communist Hungary, Red agitators won't let citizens just sit peacefully on a commuter train and read their newspapers. No matter how badly John Q. Hungarian feels, they pursue him with Communist propaganda and make him enter a political discussion of Marxism.

This was revealed recently in a Hungarian Communist newspaper which reached Vienna.

It gave instructions to the agitators for their work every morning and evening on the trains carrying thousands of workers to and from their homes, saying that non-Communists found the trains a wonderful opportunity for "subversive rumors based on the lying Voice of America."

Pegler Says Arthur Bliss Lane Has Expose of Red Massacre of Poles

New York—Arthur Bliss Lane, our ambassador to Poland who quit the diplomatic service to write a book called "I Saw Poland Betrayed," is now devoting himself to an expose of the Katyn massacre of Polish officers by the Soviet Union which was discovered in 1943. He is one of the organizers of a society called the American Committee for the Investigation of the Katyn Massacre.

Westbrook Pegler

Mr. Lane has prepared a statement which begins: "One of the least publicized actions during the last war, yet one which has had the most far-reaching consequences, was the murder of over 4,000 Polish officers in the forest of Katyn, near Smolensk, in the Soviet Union. The crime was so horrible that many persons hesitate to retell it. Yet the barbarity of the murder, which was discovered in April, 1943, when the Nazis were in occupation of Smolensk, in Russia, 15 miles west of the Katyn forest, was shown by the condition of the bodies. All the men had been found with their hands tied behind their backs. All the men had been shot in an identical manner, a bullet in the back of their necks."

No trace ever was found of about 11,000 other Polish officers in Russian hands. None of these were prisoners of war, for Poland was not at war with Russia. The Russians captured them and they vanished.

Mr. Lane points out that the American soldiers who were murdered by the Soviet North Korean army after they had been captured in the early days of the Korean "police action" were killed in the same way.

Mr. Lane also recalls that the American office of war information "adhered to the thesis that this crime (the slaughter of the 4,000 found in the mass graves at Katyn) had been committed by the Nazis.

"The British and American governments," the statement says, "were strangely silent, being allied to the U. S. S. R. at that time."

For reasons why the American people were put in doubt one must rely also on reports from Russia by American journalists. Accordingly, one refers to page 133 of "The Curtain Rises," by Quentin Reynolds, now a pundit of the radio and television and occasionally presented as a reputable, truthful and reliable authority on events of the Second World War in the "commentaries" which accompany "documentary" films.

Mr. Reynolds begins his discussion of the massacre by harking back to a broadcast by Dr. Goebbels, the German propaganda minister, in April, 1943. Goebbels charged that the bodies of 10,000 Polish officers, missing since the Russian occupation of Eastern Poland in 1939, had now been found near Smolensk. Reynolds offers no suggestion that he made any serious professional effort to ascertain the facts, but he does say that "we," wherein he apparently presumes to speak for all the Americans in Moscow, were shocked to learn that the Polish government-in-exile in London was taking this report seriously.

He quotes a brutal "Old Russian saying" which was said to run: "What's the use of being a Pole if you can't be stupid?" He added that the alacrity with which the Polish government in London had walked into the trap set by Goebbels made "us" wonder whether this horrible flippancy was appropriate to this ghastly occasion. And, he observed "whether the atrocity story were true," the Poles had been very undiplomatic in their conduct. This, it seems, was an occasion for protocol and serene manners, adorned, perhaps, by a typical series of orgies of the kind at which many American officers and civilian fools got beastly drunk and disgraced themselves.

Mr. Reynolds remarked by way of criticism of the horrified reaction of the Polish government-in-exile that their diplomacy was "as subtle as the path of a Mark VI tank through a flower garden." He got a handout from the Soviet foreign office announcing the suspension of diplomatic relations with the Polish government. He reports that a group of other foreign journalists called on the Polish ambassador, who put stress on the courtesy shown him by the Soviet government, and said he did not believe the Goebbels version. He then relates that the Soviet censors would not permit their dispatches to clear because Russia and Poland were now estranged. Reynolds observes that the Russians denied themselves the benefit of these doubts because they are bad propagandists. His final opinion of it was, however, that "the whole conflict boils down to power politics."

The American committee for the investigation of the Katyn massacre applied to the treasury for "exemption for federal income tax purposes." This was denied on the ground that while proof of the facts of this massacre "might be of historical significance," nevertheless, the project was not "educational."

Mr. Lane in reply suggested that this ruling might be "influenced by our government's recent appeasement of the Soviet Union."

Mr. Reynolds has revealed that he held an official government position while he was acting as a correspondent. His propaganda doubtless was influential in the formation of public opinion regarding Soviet Russia's position in several situations.

Mr. Lane told the treasury that "the American people, of which some 6,000,000 are of Polish descent, are entitled to know the facts."

☆ THE DOCTOR SAYS ☆

Women Should Not Fear Change of Life Period

Young women are commonly frightened by a thousand different stories about what they will go through when they get to the change of life. Most of the wild tales they hear are false. It is a perfectly normal experience and most women pass through the menopause without any serious physical or emotional difficulties.

For those who do encounter trouble, glandular products are now available which can be given by mouth or injected and which will relieve most, if not all, of the annoying symptoms.

During the menopause, which doctors consider to last for several years, there is a new balance developing between the various internal glands. The functioning of the ovaries ceases and with it the menses also stop.

These physiological functions, however, are not the only changes which occur. The adjustments which take place are nature's way of preventing reproduction late in life when women are less able to stand the burden of pregnancy and childbirth.

A few women have hot flashes, excessive weight gaining, headaches, sleeplessness, or a tendency to melancholy which may prove extremely disagreeable. When symptoms such as these develop, hormones can be supplied which help enormously.

The psychological effect of the change on women cannot be ignored. It is often taken as a sign of growing older, which, of course, it is. It does not mean, however, that all joy of living is past. Many women enjoy life more after the menopause than they did before.

Interesting and vigorous activities can be engaged in after the menopause. During the change, however, a woman might well review her daily life and decide on the things which she can do and wants to do during the remaining normal expectation of life of 30 years or so.

SELF-PITY A MISTAKE

It is a mistake for a woman to feel sorry for herself during the menopause. This will only make worse any symptoms which do develop. Mental and physical activity, providing they are reasonably carried out, should be continued.

Many women find that they have more leisure time for the things they want to do from this time on than they ever had before. The chances for the enjoyment of many things of life can be greatly increased by opportunities and planning intelligently.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

What's RIGHT?

Your poor memory for names is a constant source of embarrassment to you.

WRONG: Decide it is a handicap that you will have to put up with.

RIGHT: Try to improve your memory for names, by writing down the names of the new persons you meet and memorizing them, thinking of people always by name, instead of as "the butcher" or Mr. Jones' secretary, etc.

Last of the Sheltons Leave Illinois for Parts Unknown

Fairfield, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP) — The last of the Shelton men seemed marked for death by shadowy assassins apparently have disappeared from southern Illinois.

The last surviving clan leader, "Big" Earl Shelton, 58, and his nephew, "Little" Earl, 34, led their families' exodus from turbulent Wayne county.

Slain in Ambush

Before this development became generally known today, ambush shootings starting in 1947 took the lives of three Shelton brothers—Carl, at 59; Bernie, at 50, and Roy, at 64. Earl, Carl and Bernie led an Illinois prohibition era gang that terrorized the area known as "Little Egypt."

"Big" Earle and his wife, Earline, 38, were bombed out of their $35,000 farm home near Fairfield November 30. Fire destroyed the house. "Little" Earl and his uncle had been wounded targets for gunmen.

The two took their families and a truck load of furniture from Fairfield last Friday and headed toward Indiana. "Little" Earl was accompanied by his wife and two children.

Sells Farm

The only other surviving elder Shelton brother, Dalta, 51, and his wife sold their Cisne farm, disappeared last July and unconfirmed reports said they settled somewhere in Indiana.

The vanishing Sheltons still have about 400 acres of farm land and a few producing oil wells around here. Tenants operate the farms.

"Little" Earl sold his Fairfield home to his father-in-law, Bill Hicks. "Big" Earl and his wife lived there since their own home was burned to the ground.

"Little" Earl told a neighbor he was going away and planned to enter a veterans' hospital for removal of a bullet inflicted in his leg in an attempt on his life several months ago.

Asked by a neighbor where he was going, "Little" Earl replied: "I'm going to the country." Asked "which country," he only smiled and changed the subject.

High Court Backs Judges in School Boundary Appeal

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP) —Validity of a 1949 law authorizing county judges to make changes in school district boundaries was upheld today by the state supreme court.

The decision affirmed the Sangamon county circuit court which nullified rulings of the Macoupin county school superintendent and the state school superintendent.

The Macoupin superintendent ordered detachment of several sections of territory from the Waverly community unit school district and annexing it to the Virden community district. State superintendent Vernon L. Nickell upheld that action.

However, Nickell's finding was made a month after a new law went into effect July 28, 1949. This law authorized county judges to make changes in school district boundaries and provided for appeals to the circuit court.

The supreme court found that Nickell and the county superintendent acted under a repealed law and that the decision was void.

Report Johnston May Be Wilson Adviser

New York, Jan. 18—(AP)—The New York Times said today that Eric Johnston was reported to have received a leave of absence as president of the Motion Picture Association of America to take a post as chief economic adviser to director of defense mobilization Charles E. Wilson.

Johnston, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, was not immediately available for comment on the report.

Truman, Press Battle Again Over Quotes

went on.

He added that "I'm not scolding you."

Several reporters immediately protested.

Reported Words Fully

Ernest B. Vaccaro of the Associated Press said he had reported the president's words fully and noted that reporters do not have authority to put Truman's remarks within quotation marks.

The president said the reporters aren't going to get that authority.

Another reporter asked Truman what the criticism was of the way reporters handled his remarks concerning the atomic bomb.

The president replied that the New Yorker magazine gave an exact and complete account of that confeence.

The New Yorker article, by John Hersey, noted the repercussions abroad to Truman's assertion in response to questions November 30 that active consideration was being given to use of the atomic bomb against the Chinese Communists if that step is necessary.

Hersey made a point of the fact that Truman said such consideration is always being given to use of the bomb.

Girl Burned in Explosion Sues For $150,000

Chicago, Jan. 18—(AP)—A 15 year old girl, seriously injured in a gas hot water heater explosion that killed her mother, is suing Union Carbide and Carbon corporation of New York for $150,000.

The suit by Ruth H. Schaper said the explosion occurred in the Schaper home in Frankfort, Ill., July 1, 1949, after two servicemen of the corpration had serviced a pyrofax gas cylinder for the heater.

After the servicemen left, the suit related, the girl's mother, Edith, 41, smelled gas and went to the basement to investigate. As she approached the cylinder it exploded, killing her, and severely burning Ruth who was standing on the basement stairs.

The suit said the Schaper girl spent 10 months in the hospital, incurring $10,000 in medical bills, and she still needs six operations. Half her skin was burned off her body and burns affected her joints and disabled one hand, the suit added.

Report Clash On Western Korean Front

through enemy front lines meeting only light opposition Thursday except at Kumyangjang.

Far East air forces planes bombed the lines and ranged far behind the enemy front in quest of supplies to destroy and Red troops to kill.

Several small skirmishes were reported on the ground. One U. N. patrol poked in and out of Wonju, which was abandoned Monday by the U. S. Second Division, and found the rubbled city empty.

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Stone on the central eastern front reported there had been no major contact with the enemy in that sector for 48 hours. He said there were several minor contacts Wednesday but none of any importance in that area.

On the far eastern front, guerrilla activity has been stepped up. Stone said a closer watch on refugees was ordered Thursday when a group of old men, women and children was found carrying arms through the American lines.

Correspondent Becker, with the westernmost allied forces, said scouting parties probed the Suwon, Osan and Kumyangjang areas again Thursday, encountering enemy forces only in Kunyangjang.

On the central front, Communist forces were reported moving in the Ichon-Yoju sector, but allied patrols in both Yoju and Wonju encountered no Reds.

Expect Hoard Of a Billion Pounds of Meat

By OVID A. MARTIN

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP) — Government food officials said today upwards of 1,000,000,000 pounds of meat may be stashed away in family freeze units and lockers in anticipation of rationing.

That quantity is equal to about a two weeks' supply for the nation.

The heavy market demand for meat indicates there has been considerable buying in recent weeks above day-to-day table needs, agriculture department officials said.

The department recently reported a sharp increase in the number of home freezer units in American homes in the past few years. Estimates on the number of units in use vary from 2,250,000 to more than 3,000,000.

The department said if consumers use somewhat more than half their deep-freezer and locker space for meat, they would have room for at least 1,000,000,000 pounds on hand now.

Talk of meat rationing has been heard in connection with government plans to control prices. Officials have said rationing would be necessary to make price controls work. Without rationing, they said, meat would tend to go in large quantities to those nearest production centers, with those some distance away getting only small supplies.

Officials told a reporter it was safe to assume talk of possible rationing has encouraged many to store extra supplies in freeze units.

In addition to the home freeze units, there are more than 30,000,000 refrigerators in American homes. More than half are estimated to have compartments capable of storing meats for long periods.

The department says there also are more than 5,000,000 lockers available in freezer locker plants throughout the country.

Hear Test Case on Minors as Pinboys

Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP)—A possible test case of the Illinois law which bars bowling alleys from employing persons under 16 years old is under way in LaSalle county court.

The State Labor Department filed 63 informations charging violation of this law by Louis Leon, operator of the LaSalle Bowling Palace at nearby LaSalle. The law forbids bowling alleys, pool rooms or billiard halls from employing minors under 16.

At a hearing yesterday, County Judge John J. Massieon denied a defense motion to dismiss 47 of the 63 complaints on the grounds they are duplications.

Leon pleaded innocent to 16 of the informations. The case is set for trial Jan. 26.

LULL BEFORE STORM—UN patrols sought an elusive foe all along the 130-mile Korea front, after withdrawing from the Wonju bulge (1) to strengthen the line. Allied patrols moved into and out of Suwon (2), Yongwol (3) and other smaller towns, meeting light enemy resistance. Such towns are regarded as potential traps and of little strategic value. Minor fighting was reported 20 miles northwest of Samchok (4). The air force pounded transport centers behind the Red front during the ominous lull in ground activity. Price, Wage Controls Due Soon--Truman

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP)—President Truman said today the government will bring prices and wages under control just as rapidly as it can.

He told his news conference that he could not attempt to pin down the date of a price-wage freeze or other action, but said ceilings will be imposed as soon as practicable.

He said he had not discussed with Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson a reported proposal to bring Eric Johnston, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, into the office of defense mobilization as chief economic advisor.

But Truman said he was sure Wilson would discuss with him such a proposal if Wilson has it in mind.

The New York Times said today that the Motion Picture Association of America, which Johnston now heads, had agreed to grant him leave for the government post.

Wilson last night called for "speed and forthrightness" in the application of price and wage controls. Other high officials said privately the ODM director favors a general freeze within a few days.

'Killer' Cook Trades Gun For Poetry

his jail cell last night reading a book of poems (Omar Khayam's Rubaiyat), that he had requested.

He said he would not fight removal to Oklahoma City for trial on a federal Lindbergh-law kidnapping charge.

"I've only got $70 and I don't think it would do any good to hire a lawyer here x x x," he told newsmen. "Naturally I'm scared being charged with something like kidnapping that whole family." (the slain Mosser family)

U. S. Attorney Ernest A. Tolin, in Los Angeles, said Cook will probably remain here until after a scheduled grand jury session in Oklahoma City next Tuesday to consider an indictment.

Cook will be tried in Oklahoma on the accusation that he kidnapped the Carl Mosser family of Atwood, Ill., with intent to do bodily harm. Under the Lindberg law, the death penalty is possible in cases where the victims are harmed.

Bodies of the five Mossers—father, mother and three children—were found in an abandoned mine shaft near Cook's home in Joplin, Mo. All had been shot.

He is also charged with murdering Robert Dewey, Seattle salesman, in California and with kidnapping, robbery, automobile-theft and gun-possession in connection with the kidnapping of a California sheriff's deputy.

MOSSER BURIAL

Atwood, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP)—The five members of the Carl Mosser family, slain by a gunman's bullets while they were on an automobile trip, were buried today.

A crowd which overflowed a funeral chapel heard The Rev. Kenneth Blankenship, pastor of the Hammond, Ill., Baptist church preach a funeral sermon which dwelt on the Bible's promises of life after death.

Burial was at Hammond cemetery. The Rev. Rollin Dexter, pastor of the Hammond Methodist church, read the burial service.

Carl Mosser, 33, his wife, Thelma, 29, and their children, Ronald Dean, 8, Gary Carl, 5, and Pamela Sue, 2, all were killed while enroute to the southwest on an auto trip. Their bodies were found in an abandoned mine shaft near Joplin, Mo.

The Mosers lived on a farm between Atwood and Hammond.

Say John L. Lewis, Soft Coal Industry Near Pay Agreement

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP)—John L. Lewis and a sizeable part of the soft coal industry were reported near an agreement today on a $1.60-day pay boost for miners.

Some operators said a decision was possible "within hours" but they added that the apparent accord might blow up just as quickly.

It was generally felt that bargaining was being pushed by both sides in order to get pay raises and a possible 50-cent a ton price increase on coal in effect before the government applies wage and price controls.

The contract between the industry and Lewis' United Mine Workers may be opened after April 1, but both sides agreed they couldn't wait for that if they wanted to beat the prospective freeze on prices and wages.

Are Dodging Trouble

Industry spokesmen said they hoped to avoid labor troubles this year, and getting together on something now would help to smooth relations between Lewis and the mine owners in the uncertain months ahead.

Lewis was to meet Harry M. Moses, chief negotiator for about one third of the industry—including the steel company mines, to learn whether Moses had obtained the approval of other top coal men of the north and midwest to the pay proposal.

The mine workers' chief called his 20-man policy committee into session here to be ready to act on any contract developments.

The Southern Coal Producers association assembled its 30-man executive board in special session to await a report from association president Joseph E. Moody, who has been meeting privately with Lewis.

The southern group usually is the toughest for Lewis to bargain with. The southern operators insist they have special problems which must be considered.

Any agreement made between Moses and Lewis could not be ignored by the southerners and the scattered mine owners of the midwest and far west who are not in Moses' bituminous coal operators association.

Would Cut Work Day

Lewis' miners have been talking about cutting the work day from eight hours to seven and one-half without loss of pay. The basic hourly rate now is about $1.85 and the daily rate $14.75. The proposed $1.60 hike would make that $15.35, and the hourly rate $2.05 or higher, if the hours were reduced.

Such an increase would add about 27 cents to the cost of a ton of coal. The operators estimated that pay increases granted in the present contract are costing them 25 cents a ton.

Smoke, Attic Fire Perils Ohio Family

Ohio—The Ohio fire department was called to Dan's Cafe at 2:15 this morning to extinguish a fire in the attic of the building.

The fire department was able to put out the blaze. The building is located in the center of the block of business places. The Walnut fire department responded to the call but the fire was under control before its arrival.

There was considerable water damage.

Cite Carelessness In Baltimore Fire

Baltimore, Jan. 18—(AP)—Several federal investigators said privately today there were more indications the $15,000,000 waterfront fire Tuesday night was caused by carelessness rather than deliberate sabotage.

Apparently the most prominent clue to the holocaust that destroyed a $5,000,000 ammunition pier and the decommissioned transport George Washington was an innocent-looking oil drum used by pier workers as a fire bin to keep themselves warm during cold weather.

The FBI, Army, Maritime Administration and Coast Guard are conducting thorough investigations into the costly blaze, as well as the city fire and police departments, and the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Synthetics May Play Major Role in the Event of War

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Jan. 18— (AP) — Synthetics will play much more of a part in the half-war on which we are embarked than they did on the last full-time war.

Should schnorkels cut the trade lanes to the other continents where we now get many essential raw materials, synthetics at home would play a still greater part. In many cases they would have a life saving role.

Want High Prices

But as it is, in partly mobilized 1951, the industry is counting upon high prices for natural materials and the channeling of essentials into defense production to put more synthetics and plastics into the materials of every day living: Into clothes, carpets, blankets, draperies and slip covers; into tires, autos, household appliances, cleansers.

Shortages in some of the raw materials from which synthetics derive may put a ceiling on how much can be made, but the nation's ability to produce man-made substitutes for natural resources has increased spectacularly since the last war. This mushrooming capacity guarantees supplies for the military if sea routes are cut. It shields civilians from some of the shortages that plagued them last time.

Rubber Output Up

For example, the nation's synthetic rubber plant is 100 times as large as in 1941, and output of synthetic plastics is 500 per cent higher than in 1941. Before the last war the nation made 50 million pounds annually of detergents —synthetic soap. Its present production is put at one billion pounds a year.

Man-made fibers have shown similar startling gains in the last 10 years, and factories are being built to produce still newer synthetic fabrics as yet only names to most of the public.

These synthetics and plastics derive from raw materials in which this nation is rich: Petroleum, coal, natural gas, wood, grain, sodium, phosphate, ethylene gass and chlorine gas. Temporary shortages may plague industry, but these resources are beyond the reach of schnorkels. They brake the greed of other nations who raise prices on raw materials we lack.

Red China Spurns Peace Bid, Makes Demands of Conqueror

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

An ambitious Red China, its confidence bolstered by Moscow's hand upon its shoulder, has rejected the U. N. proposal for a cease fire in Korea and has countered with demands of a conqueror.

As was to be expected, Secretary of State Acheson announced that the counter proposal "is unacceptable to the United States government and, I have no doubt, will be to the United Nations generally."

The Peiping proposal in effect calls for the recognition of Red China to the exclusion of Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist regime, which is now cooped up on the island of Formosa. This means that the Communists would be given China's seat in the U. N

This was, of course, to be expected when the cease-fire proposals were submitted to Peiping. As I pointed out several days ago, there has been nothing to encourage the belief that the Reds would feel it profitable for them to abandon their invasion of Korea. They have a million and a half fighting men available That is, they have the United Nations forces outnumbered perhaps 6 to 1.

Only a Chinese desire for peace (which doesn't exist) would persuade them to stop their attack under such circumstances—barring bribery by great concessions Their sweeping counter proposals contain terms on which they are prepared to bargain.

So where do we go from here?

The answer is that the rebuffed peace organization presumably will be impelled to pick up where it left off when the cease-fire project was first proposed. That would mean considering an American sponsored measure condemning Communist China as an aggressor.

The adoption of such grave condemnation logically would be followed by some punitive measure. This fight take the form of an economic sanction.

The U. N. is in a tight corner. The peace organization is in the position of "being damned if it does, and damned if it doesn't."

The lesser of these evils may be some positive and constructive action.

City, County Workers Give For Pension

Chicago, Jan 18—(AP)—About 23 000 city, county and sanitary district employes throughout downstate Illinois now are contributing to a pension system

Included are all counties except Cook, all sanitary districts except Cook, and all cities, villages and towns with population exceeding 10 000 in the 1940 census, except Chicago

Mandatory in '49

About 35 of the state's larger counties, and about 35 cities and villages in the state already were participating in such a pension plan, by local referenda The 1949 state legislature made it mandatory

E. G. Hanson, executive director of the Illinois Municipal Retirement fund, said the mandatory provision of the law brought about 35 more cities into the system, in addition to all the remaining counties and sanitary districts

Effective Jan 1, 1951, all city, county and sanitary district employes contribute five per cent of their salaries The governing body contributes an average of 12 per cent, based on the tenure of office and age of the individual employe

Cops, Firemen Excluded

Policemen and firemen are excluded from the system, since they have systems of their own

Payments are converted into annuities for retiring employes, who may retire voluntarily when they reach 55 years of age, regardless of length of service

The payment to each depends upon the size of the pay and the length of his service Henson said If an emplove has high earnings, he might contribute enough, with the employer contribution, to receive a small annuity even though he has worked only a year or two

At Least $10 a Month

The law specifies no payments are to be made if they would amount to less than $10 monthly Hansen said the fund now is paying several which run between $200 and $300 monthly The largest now being paid is $370 monthly

The city of Mt Vernon, which now falls within the pension system, has no funds for city salaries and will pay none until about June City officials, who are marking time, say they can't make deductions from payrolls they don't pay Honsen said he could not comment on this situation now.

Farmers estimate that it requires at least one acre of good pasture land to supply a dairy cow in the summer season

Washington. Jan. 18—(AP)—Total announced U. S. combat casualties in Korea rose to 45,137 today.

The total, disclosed by the department of defense, was based on notifications to the next of kin through Jan. 12. It was 2,424 more than the figure for the previous week.

The department listed 6,509 killed, 29,951 wounded and 8,677 missing in action.

The wounded total includes 772 who have since died of wounds. Total deaths reached 7,303, including deaths from wounds and 22 known dead among the missing in action.

The missing figure also includes 322 men who have since returned to America control and 108 known prisoners of war.

Total army casualties reached 36,956, including 5,208 killed, 23,544 wounded and 8,204 missing.

Marine casualties stand at 7,332, including 1,116 killed, 6,008 wounded and 208 missing.

Cumulative navy casualties reached 496, and 56 killed, 372 wounded and 68 missing.

The air force total was 353, including 129 killed, 27 wounded and 197 missing.

Legislator Asks Illinois Payroll Investigation

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP)—An Illinois house member said last night he will ask a legislative investigation of state payrolls, contracts and purchases.

Rep. G. William Horsley (R-Springfield) said his resolution to create a committee of five for the inquiry may be presented next week.

Horsley said he had "something specific" in mind on contracts and purchases, but was not ready to give details.

Governor Stevenson on Monday transmitted to Republican legislative leaders recommendations by a Sangamon county grand jury for tightening up procedures governing disbursement of state payroll funds.

The Democratic governor in letters accompanying the grand jury report said the general assembly "well may wish to investigate abuses" mentioned by the jurors.

His communications were addressed to House Speaker Warren L. Wood of Plainfield and Senate Majority Leader Wallace Thompson of Galesburg. Wood and would have the letters and grand jury reports inserted in permanent assembly records.

The grand jury had looked into "misapplication and fraudulent disbursements" of state highway division appropriations in previous Republican state administrations—in office prior to 1949.

Horsley said his inquiry would be proposed to cover both former periods when the GOP was in executive control, and the present Democratic state administration.

Watch TV Program Then Rob the Joint

Ashley, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP)—Three youths watched television programs for an hour in a rural tavern last night, then held up the place.

Sheriff Albert Gorman of Washington county said that the trio approached bartender Glen Foehr when other patrons had left and flourished pistols.

The bartender said the boys got about $200 from the cash register and $9 from himself, then fled in an automobile.

By ARTHUR L. EDSON

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP)—Washington got a look at the newest ladies fashions, and—

Wow!

The Washington Advertising Club women put on a fashion show yesterday. It attracted a fair sprinkling of bigshots—such as presidential assistant John Steelman and federal trade commissioner Stephen J. Spingarn—possibly because of the advance literature which said:

"Eight lovely Washington models will appear in a series of exiotic, sheer negligees over skintight bathing suits."

That's the reason I went, anyway, and, by golly, they did.

Since the things they wore, more or less, are difficult for a man to describe, I'll give you this example from the program:

"Dorine Liebert apricot stain tent pegnoir over nude chiffon and alencon lace nightgown—permanently pleated and very full."

I guess that pretty well sums up the situation.

Comic Abe Burrows, of all people, was a commentator on the style show. He wasn't kidding when he said:

"I think these gals would look great in burlap."

Then we were given a look into milady's future.

Due to the increasing taxes, it was said, we may have to resort to the barrel for clothing. And here came a model in a plain barrel, for knocking about the house; another in a middling decorated barrel, for street wear, and finally a gal in a real fancy barrel, for evening dress.

Everybody laughed, with one exception.

Chief Tax Collector George J. Schoeneman was there. He did not appear to be amused.

Report 'Bicarb' Shortage Due To Scare-Buying

New York, Jan. 18—(AP)—Large producers of baking soda today blamed the continuing scarcity of the familiar "bicarb" on scare buying and consumer hoarding.

Baking soda (bicarbonate of soda) almost disappeared from grocery store shelves late last summer as a result of a 3½ month strike in the basic soda ash industry. That strike ended Sept. 25, but most producers have been unable to catch up with demand.

"Our baking soda production is at a record rate and for months we've been shipping more than ever before," said a spokesman for one of the largest manufacturers.

"But housewives, remembering that shortage last summer, have been buying four or five packages of soda at a time, instead of the normal one or two."

Baking soda is used in many types of home and commercial baking of cakes, cookies and crackers, is an important ingredient of baking powder, many self-rising flours and prepared cake and biscuit mixes, and is used by the tanning and effervescent drug industries.

Washing soda, an allied product used in scrubbing and in "sweetening" rinses for washing the insides of refrigerators and other appliances, is in much the same supply situation as baking soda, producers said.

Police Uncover Huge New Jersey Abortion Mill

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 18—(AP)—An anonymous tip steered police to a six-year-old abortion mill last night that had a "list of every pregnant woman in South Jersey."

A middle-aged couple were seized in the raid along with records containing the names and addresses of women operated on since 1945 at an average price of $400.

The arrests followed the disclosure last week of the death of 23-year-old Velma Callahan following an illegal abortion but police did not connect the incidents.

Held in jail without bail for a hearing today were Tess Truitt and John Rudick who police listed as man and wife. They were charged with abortion, attempted abortion and maintaining a disorderly house.

Assistant Atlantic County Prosecutor Emery J. Keiss and Det. Capt. Emanuel J. Eckstein said the couple got many of their customers from doctors throughout the area.

Keiss said voluminous records found in the house contained a list of all pregnant women in the South Jersey area but he did not reveal how the list had been compiled.

Ike to Review Potential of Italian Arms

Rome, Jan. 18—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower met today with Italian government chiefs for a look at this country's arms potential. Communist demonstrations protesting his visit already had taken one life and caused injury to nearly 100 throughout Italy.

As the supreme commander of the projected Atlantic Pact defense army swept hurriedly from palace to palace for preliminary meetings, Rome looked like a city under martial law. Police and caribinieri cleared traffic from streets through which he passed. There were no disorders reported in the capital itself.

Despite government threats of arrest, Communist - led unions called for a general strike throughout Rome to protest the arrival of Eisenhower. But late last night orders were changed to a one-hour walkout of workers to attend a mass meeting and to hear Communist labor leader Giuseppe Di Vittorio. During this time street car and bus service was ordered halted. But the government warned it would deal hard with any attempt to stop transport of public services.

Rail Mishap Gives Clinton a Bad Time

Clinton, Ia., Jan. 18—(AP)—Three Milwaukee railroad trainmen were hospitalized here today after a head-on crash of two freight trains about 5:30 a.m.

The men are W. A. Konopisos, 24, of Sioux City, Ia., and D. C. Heimbaugh, 40, and John Lexsa, 61, both of Savanna, Ill. No report was available immediately on the extent of their injuries.

The crash tied up heavy truck and passenger vehicle traffic on highway 30 which crosses the Mississippi river at this point. The 115 cars of the northbound diesel and the 40-some cars of the southbound steam engine blocked all street crossings giving access to the highway bridge.

Dixon Cagers Renew Sterling Rivalry Friday

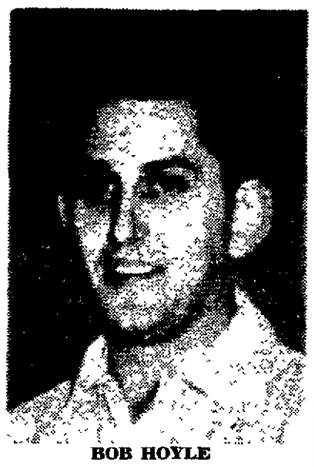
LaMoille Edges Ohio, 45-38, for B-L-P Crown

DIXON EVENING TELEGRAPH
Dixon, Illinois, Thursday, January 18, 1951 Page Eleven

The Morning After--

By "FRIDAY"

Bob Hoyle took the spotlight last night at the Recreation. Rolling in the Classic league on Boynton-Richard's five, Bob started out with a 210 game, jumped to 245 in his second and then turned in eleven straight hits and seven pins on his last ball for a 297 last set and a 756 series. Both the 297 and the 756 taking the top marks, not only for the Classic league but the city. His 756 makes him a member of the exclusive 700 club, joining Ed Worley, John Smith and Ned Sack, still active on the alleys and Hermie Koehler and John Lang, not bowling this year.



BOB HOYLE

Bob, whose 756 is high for the City as far as the new alleys and our memory goes, was one of those fellows, to which bowling came naturally. In his first season, we rolled with him, John Naylor, Bill Shuck, Don Beane and Howard Hahn, on a match team, the Recreation Comets, all except ourselves, new bowlers that year, and all except us improving considerably as the six or seven years passed. Bob rolls in two leagues, the Classic on Wednesday night and the Major loop on Fridays, and with the exception of two or three years in service in the last war has been one of the top-notch keglers in town, being runner up last year to John Smith, for the Blackhawk City championship. Our heartiest congratulations go out to him and we only wish that he could have had the other three pins in the tenth, for a perfect score . . . Bob's sponsor on Wednesday, Joe Miller of Boynton-Richards has been kidding him for carrying a higher average on Friday than he does for Joe on Wednesday and has shifted him around in the lineup, trying to get him hitting, and last night gave him a new nickname, "Blackie", and believes that's what did the business, and Joe should be satisfied, as we'd like to wager him a new suit Bob won't have a higher series on Friday night than he had last night . . . Phyllis Carson, just returned to the lanes from a sick leave, took up where she left off, with a 518 total for the only high series in the Ladies league . . . Roy Fitzsimmons probably was the most erratic kegler last night, starting with 129, jumping to 198 and ending in a flourish with 233, 104 pins better than his first set . . . Before Joyce Hoyle journeys to Dixon and starts pulling our hair, we'll quickly make a correction in her average. Instead of 160 Joyce, who rolls only one night a week at Polo, has a 165, which, to say the least, is plenty good . . . To close we'll quote a couple of scores from the Classic loop and two from the Ladies league: Jack Hipple had 417 for Melvins in the men's loop and Virginia Woolsey totaled 484; Russ Flower turned in 456 for the Dixon Hatchery and Virginia Flower had 497 for Harrison Motors.

In the Classic league Chapel Hill lost three games and had their lead cut to two sets with 36-18. Hill Bros. took over second with 34-20. Hennepin Wins Consolation Tilt 48-41 Over LC

LaMoille high school cagers came back strong in the second half to dump Ohio's Bulldogs, 45-38, to capture the second annual Bureau - Lee - Putnam basketball tournament. LaMoille repeated as champions, having defeated Ohio last year in the finals.

Hennepin took consolation honors in the tournament by dumping Lee Center 48-41 in another tight game.

Both finalists went into the play-offs boasting proud records. LaMoille had a 14-1 history, while Ohio won 13 and lost one.

Faber Brothers Star

LaMoille's Faber brothers, Fred and Elroy, fashioned the win. Fred led the winners with 12 points on two baskets and eight charity tosses, and his brother Elroy marked up four baskets and a free toss.

It was a closely contested ballgame with LaMoille grabbing an early first quarter, 15-7 lead. But the Bulldogs came back strong in the second period and went ahead at the intermission, 25-22.

Hennepin Posts Win

The action increased in the second half when the hosting LaMoille five began to hit and the Bulldogs fell behind. As the fourth quarter opened as Ohio trailed 33-32. The final period won the game for LaMoille as they tallied 12 markers to the invaders six, to give LaMoille the crown.

The consolation tilt also proved to be an interesting contest as Hennepin and Lee Center battled until the last quarter before the victors were able to gain the decision.

The Hennepin forwards, Paxson and Pederson, led the attack. Both boys meshed the nettings for 15 markers.

Gene Delhotel was high man for the losers with 18 points.

Praise Cager For Reporting Bribe Attempt

New York, Jan. 18 — (AP) — Students and faculty members of Manhattan College still echoed praise Thursday for Junius Kellogg, lanky center of the basketball team who exposed the latest scandal in metropolitan basketball circles.

The six foot-eight Kellogg reported a bribe attempt to fix the Manhattan-DePaul game Tuesday night at Madison Sqquare Garden. With the result five men are under arrest, two of them former Manhattan players.

Kellogg, 22 years old, was praised by Brother Bonaventure Thomas, Manhattan's president, who spoke of his "personal integrity, moral courage and strength of character."

The lanky center, tallest basketball player in the school's history, also is the first Negro to represent Manhattan in the sport.

Kenneth Norton, Manhattan coach, said he was proud of Kellogg's courage, and that he hoped "that bringing this to light will clear up this nasty situation."

At the Manhattan campus in the Bronx, more than 500 students applauded Kellogg and Norton when they posed for photographers.

Kellogg, proficient at baseball, football and swimming besides basketball, was voted the outstanding athlete at Fort Dix, N. J., two years ago. He is attending school under the GI Bill of Rights.

Kellogg is the eldest of 11 children, eight of whom represent four sets of twins.

Hardt lost his first match in the series to fellow Chicagoan Sol Lurie and then won six straight. He now qualifies for the National meet here Feb. 16-22.

Runnerup in the Sectional was Norman Ross of Michigan City, Ind., with a 5-2 score.

Amboy, Lee Center Reach Grade School Cage Tourney Finals

Amboy and Lee Center posted wins in the Lee County Grade School tournament to qualify for the final round of play on Saturday. Amboy had little trouble defeating Franklin Grove, 41-12, while Lee Center was extended all the way by Paw Paw before chalking up 15 points in the last quarter to win 32-29.

The two teams will meet at Ashton Saturday night to battle for the crown. Amboy is defending champion.

Dick Weiser was the big gun for the little Amboy cagers as he netted 18 points.

Franklin Grove began strong as they pushed to a 7-6 first quarter lead, but the Junior Clippers playing on their home court wiped out the deficit by tallying 13 markers in the second period while they held the Grovers scoreless, to make the count at intermission 19-7.

Once Amboy found themselves they continued to dominate the play in the last half and limited the Grovers to four points.

Lee Center came from behind in the final period to post their victory over Paw Paw. Christian led the victors, scoring 20 counters, 10 of them coming in the deciding last quarter.

Pfeifer with nine markers was high for the losers.

Aggies Defeat St. Louis 55-44

New York, Jan. 18—(AP)—Oklahoma A & M and Columbia still sport two of the country's longest basketball streaks after meeting strong league competition.

The Aggies won No. 18 in a row, defeating powerful St. Louis, 55-44, in a Missouri Valley conference game Wednesday night.

Columbia won the 20th straight, 68-50, over Pennsylvania in a battle for undisputed first place in the Ivy league.

Both streaks are carry-overs from last season. A & M, ranked No. 1 in this week's Associated Press poll, has won 16 this season. Columbia, No. 7, won its 11th straight.

Zeke Sinacola of Niagara added St. Bonaventure (10-1) to the beaten list. The scrappy guard scored 28 points in leading Niagara to a 72-57 victory over the Bonnies.

Oklahoma A & M now leads the Missouri Valley with a 4-0 mark. St. Louis and Bradley are tied in second place with 3-1.

St. Louis losing six and A & M two on fouls. Ray Sonnenberg, Billiken ace, didn't score a goal in the defensive battle.

College Cage Bribes Believed Wide-Spread; Five Arrested

New York, Jan. 18— (AP) — College basketball's latest scandal, involving Manhattan College, may spread to other colleges.

This was indicated Thursday in the wake of Wednesday's disclosure that a Manhattan player had been offered $1,000 to throw Tuesday night's game against DePaul in Madison Square Garden a bribe attempt that failed and led to the arrest of two former Manhattan players for throwing games last year and three men described by police as "fixers."

Edward J. Breslin, assistant district attorney of the Bronx, said he had been told that other players in New York and other cities were "doing the same thing."

And Kenny Norton, Manhattan coach, asserted: "I feel that this is more than a local thing. If these termites kept waving money in front of my boys faces they must have been waving some in front of other boys faces. I cannot conceive that Manhattan players are the only ones gotten to."

"The big guys haven't been caught yet," Norton added.

Manhattan, a 10-point underdog, beat DePaul 62-59 before a crowd of 11,000 in the Garden but the attempted fix was not disclosed until Tuesday afternoon.

Then police reported that, with the undercover aid given by big Junius Kellogg, Manhattan sophomore player, they had arrested Henry Poppe, 24, and John Byrnes, 22, co-captains of last year's Manhattan team, and three alleged fixers, Irving Schwartzberg, 36; his brother, Benjamin, 35; and Cornelius Kelleher, 35.

The five were arraigned on charges of bribery and conspiracy. The Schwartzerg brothers were held without bail. Bail for Kelleher was set for $15,000, for Poppe $4,000 and for Byrnes $2,500. They are to be given a hearing on Jan. 24. If convicted they face up to five years in prison and fines of $10,000.

Kellogg, a 22-year-old from Portsmouth, Va., was offered the $1,000 bribe last Thursday, but delayed giving an immediate answer. He then contacted Norton, who with other Manhattan authorities, informed the police. Kellogg was told to pretend to go along with the deal.

Out of this came the arrests and the disclosure by Breslin that Poppe and Byrnes, Manhattan's highest scorers last season, had been involved in fixes last year against Siena, Bradley, Santa Clara, New York University and St. Francis of Brooklyn.

For their work in these games, Breslin said, Poppe and Byrnes each received $1,000 per game or a total of $5,000 plus a weekly retainer of $40.

Siena, a 14-point underdog, beat Manhattan, 48-33 on Dec. 3, 1949, Santa Clara, a two-point underdog, won by 73-64 on Dec. 26, 1949 and Bradley, a seven-point favorite, won by 89-67 on Jan. 12, 1950.

In the NYU and St. Francis games, Breslin said, Poppe and Byrnes were instructed to play so the games would be won by more than the point spread. Manhattan beat NYU, 80-55, and St. Francis, 71-57.

Breslin said Poppe has made a "complete confession."

Freeport-West Rockford Tilt Tops State Prep Cage Menu

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP)—Freeport's Pretzels and West Rockford's Warriors collide Friday in the No. 1 game on the weekend Illinois prep basketball card.

For West Rockford, undefeated in 12 starts this season, it will be the toughest test faced to date. Freeport's 14 game record has been marred only by a loss to East Rockford.

West Rockford will have the home floor advantage.

Freeport is ranked second and West Rockford fourth in the current Associated Press prep roll.

First Tough Challenge

In the southwestern area, the top contest sends unbeaten East St. Louis and its 13 game string to Edwardsville for a serious challenge Friday. Edwardsville shows two losses and 11 victories this season.

The Flyers from East St. Louis, had a close early brush with Alton. Otherwise, their shortest win margin was 11 points, over Belleville in December.

Sixth rated Mt. Vernon, stopped once in 14 tilts, takes on a dangerous Marion quintet. In an earlier duel with Marion, Mt. Vernon scored a one point decision.

East Rockford Favored

East Rockford, ranking ninth in the poll, guards its string of nine wins compared with one loss against LaSalle-Peru. The Rockford club is a heavy favorite in this meeting.

The No. 1 team, Morton of Cicero, is an odds on choice to whip Proviso Friday for its 13th straight triumph.

Thornton of Harvey, in the seventh poll spot with an 11-1 slate, travels to Argo to meet the worrisome Argonauts who almost defeated Thornton in December.

Quincy's Blue Devils don't expect trouble from Pittsfield Friday but the invading Taylorville Tornadoes promise to put up a strong argument Saturday. Quincy has won 11 and lost three to date.

Other Tilts

Lincoln (13-2) is favored over Pekin Saturday and Rock Island (12-3) figures to have an easy time with Monmouth Friday.

The Paris Tigers, who bowed to to the victory road against Casey Quincy last week, seek a return Friday and Mattoon next night. Mattoon pulled a surprise last week by spilling Robinson.

West Frankfort, one of the best entries in southern Illinois, plays Centralia Friday and Herrin Saturday. Twin success would expand the Frankfort record to 14 wins and two setbacks.

5:57.5 Mile, a Record; Set By Blind Runner, Arnold Lee

By MURRAY SINCLAIR

Tucson, Ariz., Jan. 18—(AP)—Tucson is mighty proud of a kid who runs the mile in a bit under six minutes. So what, you say, Gunder Haegg of Sweden ran it in 4:01.4.

But Arnold Lee is blind. When he whizzed around an eighth-mile oval in 5:57.5 he probably set an unofficial world's record.

The secretary of the Eastern Athletic association for the blind reports that the mile run has never been officially sanctioned for the blind and that the 100-yard dash was recently discontinued.

Blinded 12 Years Ago

Thanks to Coach Charley Thornton, the Arizona school for the deaf and blind in Tucson has what is probably the only circular track for blind runners in the United States.

Lee is 18 years of age and of Navajo Indian descent. He was blinded 12 years ago when a firecracker exploded in a fire on the Navajo Indian reservation. He was standing nearby.

Lee is in his sixth year at the Arizona school. He scampered his first mile around the track in 6:26. The third time around he covered the 5,280 feet in 5:59.4. His best mark to date is 5:57.5 but Thornton expects this to be lowered in the near future.

Uses Rail as Guide

You could never tell the grinning Indian lad was running in total darkness to see him stride around the oval. It looks simple as the 5' 2½", 125-pound youth runs with his left hand touching a rail to guide him. The track has an inside and outside rail serving as guides for the runners.

On the sharp curves the "Chief" has to pull against the rail. On the straightaway, he just brushes the rail lightly.

In the past it has been generally believed that running was a sport beyond the capabilities of the blind.

Now the coach hopes that other blind schools will take up track and that inter-school meets can be arranged.

BASEBALL

CAMP PICKETT, Va.—Army reclassified recruit Art Houtteman, former Detroit Tigers pitching ace as not fully qualified for combat duty.

RACING

MIAMI—All At Once and Valpam won split divisions of Inaugural handicap as Hialeah opened 40-day meeting with record opening day crowd of 23,758.

Invade Warrior Gym For Conference Tilt

Dixon's Dukes have another two-game card scheduled for the weekend as they meet their arch-rivals from Sterling, Friday, on the Golden Warriors' court, and then entertain the Fulton five on Saturday.

For the many lickings they have received in the past few years at the hands of Sterling the Dukes should invade their annual enemies' court with revenge in their hearts. The Golden Warriors have a 3-9 record for this year, while the Dukes having met tougher competition hold an 8-5 history for the season.

In its most recent outing last Tuesday Sterling dumped Princeton 36-32, in a loosely played game. Against the same opponents the Dukes posted a 70-63 victory.

Injured Cager Returns

The Golden Warriors have a nucleus of five lettermen on their squad and are led by Marv Kaiser, who returned to action after the first of the year. He had been out with an injury he received in the final grid game of the season.

He is the tallest man on the Sterling quintet standing six feet two inches. The remainder of the team roster measures below the six foot standard.

Coach Gene Hall's boys are experiencing the worst season in several years as their 3-9 record shows. Last year the Golden Warriors had a 20-9 mark.

With the exception of Phil Kernan who bruised his hip in last Saturday's win over Polo the Dukes are at top strength. Dixon's one-two combination of Jim Mercer and Floyd Acker have shown they are at top form and should give the Golden Warriors plenty of trouble.

Fulton Has Height

Fulton's invading five on Saturday has a tall squad with five cagers stretching over the six foot mark. Two of the boys stand 4 and 5 inches over the rule mark.

To date the Steamers have a 2-8 record, but have dropped tilts due to the loss of their top scorer Ronnie Temple who was declared ineligible.

Coach Chuck DeWild says that his boys are comnig along fast and show enough improvement to give the Dukes a good tussle.

All Tickets Sold For Friday's Tilt

Tickets for the Duke-Sterling game on Friday night are all sold. Reports from the high school and Fulf's Confectionary store announced that all 300 ducats were purchased Wednesday.

Eliot Awaits Further Talks

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP)—Football coach Ray Eliot of Illinois is awaiting instructions from Southern California officials prior to another meetng on the USC coaching job.

Eliot told a reported Wednesday night that he "definitely" is going to talk again with Southern Cal officials, possibly this weekend or next week.

He has been invited to the west coast for final talks on a possible contract, he said, and the only thing that remains to be set is the date.

That doesn't mean, he added, that either he or Southern California has decided "for sure" that Eliot is the man for the job vacated by Jeff Cravath.

Bob Crosby Getting Into TV, Figures He'd Better Hurry

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Jan. 18—(AP) — Bob Crosby is getting into television in a big way and figures he'd better hurry. He reasons, "I've got a few years of grace because Bing's too busy and Gary's too young."

After a flurry of TV appearances in the East, Bob has made a couple of TV films as a test for his present radio sponsor. The deal is warming for a video series.

Jokes About Brothers

Bob does a lot of jesting about his relationship to his famed brother. After the success of the "Sam's Song" record he observed that "I used to be known as 'Bing Crosby's brother'; now they call me 'Gary Crosby's uncle.'"

Does he think being Bing's brother has hurt his career?

"I don't think so," he replied "If I were the brother of someone who was just a star in the show business it might make a difference. But Bing is more than a star; he's an institution. Because he is so supreme in his field, there's room for another Crosby."

The two brothers have always been close, Bob remarked. Bing was the youngest boy in the family until Bob came along, and he was happy to abdicate the position.

Stayed Apart

Although he has made many appearances with Bing, Bob has kept most of his activities apart from the groaner and his business brothers, Everett and Larry.

"When I first started out, I divorced myself from the rest of the family operation," he said. "I didn't even mention Bing. But then people got mad at me, figuring I had had a fight with Bing. So I decided not to hide the fact we were brothers."

Bob is now playing a TV star in "Two Tickets to Broadway," and that's how he was discovered for the role—on an Eastern TV show. Producer Jerry Wald has high hopes for the lad's movie future and calls him "The Neglected Crosby."

Stevenson Invites VA Medic to Study Illinois Hospitals

Washington, Jan. 17—(AP)—Dr. Paul Magnuson, who left his job as chief of medicine for the Veterans Administration this week, has been invited to study Illinois hospitals.

Dr. Magnuson said Governor Stevenson had telephoned the request that he "come out there and cull over the state hospitals."

"I told the Governor that I didn't want to take on any additional work now," Magnuson told a reporter, "but if he still wanted me to do it next spring, I would, as a citizen of Illinois, be happy to oblige."

Right now, Magnuson said, he wants to finish a book on "Backaches and Diseases and Injuries of the Spine." He began the book years ago.

Next, he said, he plans to resume teaching and consultation work in Chicago where for many years he had been an orthopedic surgeon.

Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray, Jr., announced Sunday that Magnuson had resigned his VA post. Magnuson denied it, saying he had been fired after more than two years of disagreement with Gray over the running of veterans' hospitals.

Argue If Table Used for Dice Or Smorgasbord

Rock Island, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP)—Circuit Judge Ray I. Klingbiel has given both sides two weeks to file final briefs in their argument over whether five tables were used for shooting craps or serving smorgasbord.

The tables were seized in a raid last year at Juls' Danish Farm, a Moline restaurant. State's Attorney Bernard J. Moran seeks a court order to destroy them.

Robert Graham, defense counsel, in final arguments asserted the tables "have other lawful uses such as serving a smorgasbord. It is the use of the articles, not the articles in themselves, that the law condemns."

"It is foolish to assert in this case that these tables have any other use than for gambling," Moran continued. "Everything has another use. Even a slot machine could be used for arm exercises."

Caribou Return to Hudson Bay Region

Churchill, Manitoba—(AP)—Caribou from the barren lands in numbers greater than ever before are reported along the Hudson Bay Railroad, south of here.

At one time these animals grazed on the flats near here. Then for 25 years not one was seen. Eight years ago they returned, even running through the streets. Old timers believe the number of caribou is diminishing. The natives at t imes kill many more than they need for food. A far greater number is destroyed by wolves.

The National Geographic Society says a third of South Africa's white population centers around Johannesburg.

Retail Food Prices Mixed; Expect Price, Wage Freeze

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Changes in retail food prices were a mixture of ups and downs this week as government price-wage stabilizers enlarged their staffs in anticipation of nationwide controls.

Prices of eggs, butter and pork dropped a little in most places, while chicken, lamb, some beef items, canned coffee and several other canned foods pushed higher.

Some Produce Higher

On produce counters, celery, lettuce, most citrus fruits, snap beans, escarole and sweet potatoes worked lower, but western pears, emperor grapes, beets, cucumbers, peppers and squash were mostly higher than last weekend.

The labor department announced this week that overall level of retail food prices had climbed to a new record high in the latest period surveyed—between Dec. 15 and Jan. 2. The new level, 218.9 per cent of the 1935-39 average, was 1.2 per cent over the previous peak reached in July of 1948. The advance was nearly 7 per cent since the Korean war began.

Top grade eggs eased two to as much as 12 cents a dozen this week compared with last, major store chains reported, largely because of a seasonal increase in receipts.

Butter was off 2 to 3 cents a pound in many markets.

Pork Declines

Declines in pork prices ranged as much as 10 cents a pound on some cuts in scattered places, but the average was much less. Frying and broiling chickens were up 2 to 6 cents a pound, lamb up as much as 6 cents a pound in some large marketing centers, beef unchanged to 3 cents a pound higher.

Several large independent coffee roasters boosted their wholesale prices 1½ to 2 cents a pound on nationally distributed canned brands, blaming higher costs for green coffee.

A long list of other canned foods ranging from tomatoes to fish also were reported being marked up gradually. Distributors said rumors of increased buying of such foods for the military was a major factor. Some trade authorities said if precautionary buying on the part of wholesalers, jobbers and retailers continued at the present rate, many canners would be entirely cleared of canned goods stocks from 1950 production by March 1. Some packers of nationally advertised brands were reported already allocating shipments to stretch remaining supplies to the new canning season.

The agriculture department topped its list of plentiful foods for thrifty buying this week with citrus fruits and broiling and frying chickens.

One and one eighth cup of dried whole milk added to a quart of water makes the equivalent of a quart of fluid whole milk.

Evaporated milk mixed half and half with water is regarded as the equivalent of whole milk.

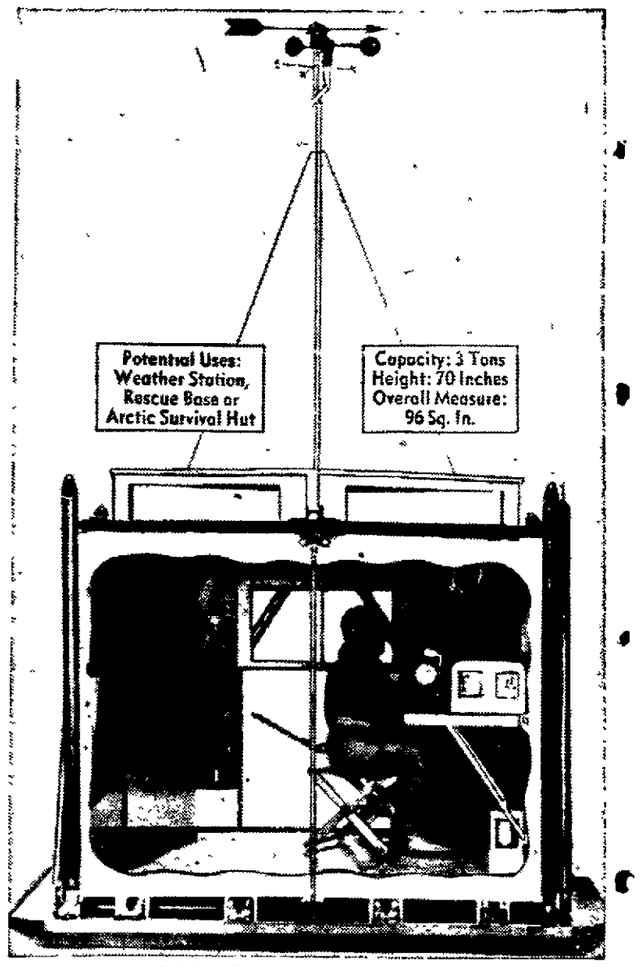
To Plant Barley In Israeli Desert

Tel Aviv—(AP)—In 1951 for the first time, barley will be planted in the vast Negev Desert in Southern Israel, it was announced here. The barley project is part of Israel's program to gain self-sufficiency in vegetable growing and cattle raising. Storage units are being constructed for unsalable seasonal surpluses.



"THE THING" FOR FUTURE AIR-DROPS — If you should come upon this great, big box, you might open it up and discover arms, ammunition, fuel, food or even a squad of live soldiers. It's a model of the new all-purpose, metal container just developed by the Air Materiel Command at Dayton, O., for parachuting everything military—including GI's—to earth from cargo planes. Once aground, the metal box may double as a rescue base, weather station or survival hut. (Air Force photo from NEA-Acme)

Buyers Converge on Chicago NY, Report Shopping Spree

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Jan. 18—(AP)—Retail store buyers are flocking to the markets in New York and Chicago. Manufacturers in many lines of consumer goods report with pleasure that the surge of shoppers into the stores this month has set merchants to re-ordering from their suppliers.

Three times as many buyers arrived last week as in the first week of January, the Industrial Council of Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers, Inc., reports.

Women's Sales Advance

Women's coats and suit sales are advancing smartly, the council says. Winter goods are being re-ordered and buying of spring merchandise has perked up. An upturn in demand for other ready-to-wear garments of wool and cotton is also noted.

Some women's coat makers say they have booked more orders for winter garments the first two weeks in January than they did in the month of November, when their lines opened.

Heavy ordering of men's shirts and pajamas this month is reported at the opening of the National Market Week of the National Association of Shirt, Pajama & Sportswear Manufacturers. Some of the larger stores have booked their needs through April, with out-of-town buyers ordering in larger volume than the New York merchants.

Men's Wear Good, Too

Men's wear makers report good business. The International Association of Clothing Designers, meeting here, are told that the industry has enough woolen cloth on hand to supply their needs for 1951. The association hopes to spur retail sales by promoting a new silhouette for the American male, called "The American Lounge Model" and due to appear in spring lines.

Brisk ordering is reported by the 355 exhibitors at the New York lamp show this week. Nearly 2,000 buyers registered as the show got under way. Large scale ordering is reported in metal lamps. A buyer for one of the largest department store chains in the country reports he is placing orders to cover the chain's needs through June. Prices are up from 10 to 15 per cent from last year. Some of the manufacturers are reported accepting orders at fixed prices for not more than 90 days ahead.

Ordering at the Chicago winter home furnishing market is reported running well ahead of expectations. Some furniture makers have booked all the orders they can handle until June.

Sergeant Fox, 61, Debunks Posters

Aberdeen, Md.—(AP)—In those Air Force recruiting posters, the young flyer—always very young—stands clean limbed and straight against the horizon.

Well, M/Sgt. John E. Fox, of Phillips Field, Md., can tell you those posters are a lot of prop wash. He's still on flying status—and he's 61 years old.

Sergeant Fox is a mechanical inspector of Army Air Force planes. And he's probably old enough to be the grandfather of some of the pilots he flies with.

Fox enlisted in the army on Nov. 26, 1910, at Ft. Slocum, N. Y. He's a veteran of the Mexican border campaign, and he saw service in the Philippines in 1915.

Teacher Describes 'Volcano on Ice'

Berkeley, Calif.—(AP)—A "volcano of ice" several thousand years ago in southern British Columbia was described here by a University of California assistant professor of geology.

Dr. William H. Mathews told of the eruption of Mount Garibaldi when that area of present-day Canada was under a great glacial sheet of ice covering everything up to 5,000 feet.

The "volcano of ice" was created when the eruption threw up masses of molten matter. The hot ashes gradually built up a cone covering more than 10 square miles, Dr. Mathews said. Through this cone avalanches of lava poured out onto the surrounding ice causing awesome clouds of steam and hot volcanic dust to rise, the geologist said.

Juarez, Mexico, a five minute streetcar ride from downtown El Paso, is now the seventh largest city in Mexico. A recent census shows the population to be 121,761.

Truman Takes Lid Off Touchy Defense Problem--Manpower

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP)—President Truman has opened up one of the touchiest problems in the whole defense program, if the program continues in high gear very long. That's the problem of manpower.

Truman dug into it in a memorandum—called "National Manpower Mobilization Policy"—which he sent yesterday to the heads of government departments and agencies.

Nudge to Leaders

While it was addressed to them only, it was, nevertheless, the strongest kind of nudge to workers, union leaders and employers to begin thinking of their joint, future problems, which will be many.

What the president said, briefly, was this: Manpower problems should be solved on a voluntary basis; if they're not, the government will step in with controls to solve them by compulsion.

Through compulsion the government could tell an employer what to do about hiring or firing or the number of employes he could have and the government could freeze workers in their jobs or shift them around.

Need Congress' Approval

Such power would certain require approval of congress through passage of a special law which might have any one of a number of names, like "National Service" or "Labor Draft."

Both labor and business people dislike such an idea heartily. And at this point in the program, this early stage, compulsive laws or government controls seems a long way off.

Manpower headaches were an endless problem in World War II. But it wasn't until almost the very end—in January, 1945—that President Roosevelt asked congress to pass a "national service" law.

It almost did but the war ended before the house and senate, which quickly passed separate and different bills, could agree on a compromise.

Army, Industrial Needs

The manpower problem can be stated this way: While the armed services build up, the number of plants doing defense work will grow, too. And both need men.

The draft boards can't grab just any man who comes along without hurting defense production which will need skilled workers. Still, if draft-proof skilled workers are free to change jobs at will, production will suffer.

At the same time, employers who try to hoard more workers, or at least more skilled workers, than they need, will be hurting defense output in other plants. So will employers who try to "pirate" workers from one another.

Must Watch Orders

And government agencies with defense orders to be filled can make a mess of production and manpower if they dump their orders in an area where manpower is tight.

These were all problems in World War II, although only some of the problems. There was no single solution for them. There were a number of solutions in a number of places. And there were experiments that failed.

In his memorandum of yesterday Truman used some pretty vague language. Someone else probably wrote it for him, and he approved it. Boiled down, this is what he said:

First, there must be a voluntary effort to settle manpower problems. But if they fail the government will step in with controls to do these things:

Government Willing

1. It will "control separations." This seems to say the government will freeze workers in their jobs if that's necessary to get production done and keep workers from shifting around from plant to plant.

2. Tell employers the maximum number of workers they can hire.

3. Make employers use the workers they have to the best of their ability instead of letting them waste skilled people in jobs which don't need their skills.

4. Control "employer hiring." This seems to say the government can tell the owner of a defense plant whom he has to hire.

Controls Due Soon, Hinted By President

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP)—The government's decision to go ahead speedily with nationwide price and wage controls today and sent officials into a whirl of last-minute preparations.

In the absence of any official word on exact timing, the best guess seemed to be that a general prize freeze, probably rolling back present high levels somewhat, would come perhaps within a week—almost certainly not much longer.

This was just one development in a marked speed-up in defense mobilization.

Controls Threatened

President Truman laid down late yesterday a national manpower policy calling for voluntary measures now. But he cautioned that sweeping controls will be sought if necessary. The idea is to see that defense industries and other essential undertakings get the men they need.

Then, too, the Defense Department sent congress a drastic new military manpower program. It also outlined an $87,000,000,000 program to buy the arms needed now and expand production facilities.

On the question of price-wage controls, Defense Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson laid it on the line in a Philadelphia speech last night:

"Voluntary methods will not work . . . the power of the law must be invoked . . . whatever the causes for delay up to now, we must proceed with courage, speed and forthrightness to adopt the controls which will insure stability and fairness in our civilian economy."

The senate small business committee hoped to get more details from Wilson today about the coming controls. This committee called Wilson and William H. Harrison, boss of the Defense Production Administration, to a public hearing.

As officials of the Economic Stabilization Agency and other agencies explained it, the government's plan appeared to shape up about like this:

A general price freeze is planned to slow down the rise in cost of living until detailed price ceilings can be worked out for all times.

Prices will be rolled back to some extent. Jan. 1 has been mentioned as a possible date.

Wages will be frozen temporarily or controlled under some formulat yet to be announced.

To Affect Foods

Most farm prices cannot be legally frozen at present levels, but the order will affect food prices in every way allowable under the defense prouction act. Rationing of goods at retail is not expected to come for a few months.

Wilson's words, "Whatever the causes for delay up to now," obviously referred to the lack of a big staff at the ESA.

That agency is rushing its expansion program to meet the emergency. An ESA spokesman said 13 regional offices probably will open next week—well before the previous target date of Feb. 1. Other ESA officials reported that the enforcement division will be ready to do a "creditable job."

Truman laid down the manpower policy in a memo to heads of government departments and agencies. Although calling for only voluntary measures now, he said controls would be used "when and to the extent needed to assure successful execution of the mobilization program."

Need New Laws

Mandatory controls would require new legislation. The president said they would include:

Ceilings on the number of workers a business firm could employ, controls over job shifting and hiring, and compulsory acceptance of women, handicapped workers and minority groups.

Truman laid down this basic aim of the manpower program: "Each individual will be expected to serve in the capacity in which he can contribute most to the total mobilization program."

Women's Church Club Holds Polo Meeting

Polo—The Wesleyan Service guild of the Methodist church entertained the WSCS Monday evening with 50 in attendance. Mrs. Ned Parrett was in charge of the program.

The devotions were lead by Miss Lois Schryver. Mrs. Parrett introduced the soloist, Robert Baley, and his accompanist, after which she introduced Wolfgang Grundei, an exchange German student, who told of his experiences as a youth under Hitler. Mrs. Herbert Hays, president, conducted a short business session after which the group adjourned to the basement where refreshments were served by the social committee composed of Mrs. Russell Hammer, Mrs. Herbert Hays, Mrs. Russell Brown and Mrs. Buell Brodie.

Mrs. Earl Groves returned Tuesday from Long Beach, Calif., where she attended the National Turkey federation meeting. On Sunday she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Arens of Polo who are spending the winter in Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Webster, Mrs. Lena Holznagel and Mrs. Rose Schryver left Wednesday for a vacation to be spent in Florida.

Says Certain Rocks Formed by Freezing

Los Angeles —(AP)— Certain rocks were formed through the "freezing" of molten liquids, says Dr. George Tunell, University of California professor.

"Laboratory geologists are reproducing some of the processes which created minerals in the earth many years ago, but information thus uncovered has not yet been put to its full use," he says.

Dr. Tunell says that leading field geologists working with metal ores have stated that in order to learn the nature of hot solutions through which many metal ores have been deposited, the cooperation of both field and laboratory workers is needed Discovery of ore deposits depends in the long run, he said, on how they were formed.

Soviet Russia Still Buys Malaya Rubber

Singapore—(AP)— Soviet Russia still is buying Malayan rubber. She holds third position as the biggest recipient of what's shipped out of the Federation of Malaya, topped only by the United States and the United Kingdom

The United States bought 338,072 tons of Malayan rubber the first 11 months of 1950. The United Kingdom got a total of 180,318 tons. The Russian figure is 66,598. Additionally, the Russian satellites of Poland bought 3,065 tons; Czechoslovakia 8,410; Rumania, only seven tons, Hungary, 204, in the period from January 1 to December 1, 1950.

John Huss' Church To Become Shrine

Prague—(AP)—John Huss' old church here is about to become a national shrine of Czechoslovakia. Bethlehem Chapel, where Huss preached church reform in the early 15th Century, is being restored with government money.

Archeologists have been at the job more than two years. They are almost finished. The chapel is believed to have been consecrated in 1394. It was torn down at the end of the 18th Century.

Huss, a Catholic priest, was condemned for heresy in Constance, Switzerland, and burned at the stake.

Yugoslav Papers Under the Counter'

Belgrade — (AP) — Westerners may find this hard to believe But, although Yugoslavia has a controlled press and the people know that their government allows to be published only what it thinks they should know, a blackmarket in newspapers has developed here

The scramble for papers becomes so wild even the western press correspondents established here miss out This means they have to borrow from each other and papers get double or triple usage There are three major reasons for this condition

First, there is a newsprint shortage. Second, there is a greater demand for papers since the war because illiteracy has been sharply reduced Third, a Yugoslav family needs a newspaper because they publish what rationed foods are available in the stores

Tennessee Readers Baffled by Bylines

Memphis, Tenn — (AP) — Folks who read the "Commercial Appeal" must have been amazed at Robert Talley Pick up the paper and there on the front page was a red-hot story by "Robert Talley" Then on the sports page, subscribers would run across another item, maybe a night football game—topped with the same byline, "by Robert Talley"

Who is this hard working, versatile, and agile man of words. He's two persons—Robert Talley, the paper's star reporter of some 25 years experience, and Robert Talley, the 22-year-old cub reporter in the sports department They are not related Things were confusing for awhile Take the time the cashier gave big Bob the paycheck that should have gone to young Talley Or the time big Bob picked up the telephone and a sweet young voice purred, "is that you, B-O-B?" But editor Frank Ahlgren solved things by having young Bob sign his stories 'Bob N Talley"

Israel to Use U. S. Delinquency Laws

Tel Aviv — (AP) — Modern American legislation for youth delinquency will probably be the model for a new juvenile code now being drafted in Israel The completion of the code will take several years

The drafts will be discussed law by law The first, to be dealt with shortly, foresees abolishing the appearance in court of children who have been victims or witnesses of sexual offenses The draft law proposes that such testimony should be given to psychologists only who in their turn would forward it to the police or judges
